

Down Went the Spoon

6/1/09

By Laura G.

Down went the spoon
with a great, big boom!
and SPATTER
went
the pancake batter.

Down went the cup
(certainly not up)
and out spilled the water to make a new brook.

Down went my cookie
all ready to munch
well, it broke into pieces and now was a bunch.

Down went the soap
right into the sink
where it started to slide so my eyes I did shut to supposed a round rink.

Down went the coins
I saved for a week
why, they started to scatter and play hide and seek!

Down went the feather
I found on a bench,
it floated so slowly
I thought I'd have lunch.

Down went the ball
which bounced up and down
then rolled out the hall and rolled down the steps and rolled till it stopped by my Daddy so tall.

Down went the cat
that twisted and squirmed
till it landed flat
on its four furry feet.

Down went the puzzle
so hard to do.
then CRASH! And CLAS!
was a hundred and one
Pieces again.

Down went the brush
just dipped in red paint and spotted poor Spot
who all of a sudden
was just one red spot.

Down went the clay
that I shaped like a jay and THUMP!
resembled a bump.

Down went the phone
with such a jingle and jangle that my friend cried out “Why! My ear’s a’ tingle!”

Down went the plate
which I wanted to wash
but instead it went SMASH!
and shattered to shards.

Down I went from my bicycle seat
but as soon as I landed
UP
I POPPED
like a jack-in-the-box.

(c) 2009 Laura G.

